

When control, performance and your brand name is everything, you need experts around you to help you make the most of your systems and resources.

Supply Chain Assurance from LRQA helps ensure your supply chain delivers to your requirements.

LRQA Client Case An Example of LRQA Supply Chain Assurance in Action

A leading soft drinks brand puts the quality and safety of its products and concerns for the environment at the top of its agenda. One of its key priorities is auditing a supply chain across 200 countries against its own very detailed management system requirements. To achieve this, the brand chooses to outsource supplier auditing.

It's also important to the brand that its standards improve over time; therefore, they opt to work with a company that can offer expert advice and ideas.

As their supply chain auditor, LRQA works with the brand to make sure the supply chain meets the brand's requirements and continually improves. And to ensure LRQA really understands our client's expectations and its production sites, our expert assessment teams go through additional training direct from the client, enabling especially effective and robust audits.

Because LRQA has resources available through one of the world's most comprehensive networks of assessment staff, we are able to offer the client trained assessors available locally to ensure the brand's global supply chain meets stringent requirements.

As a result, our client can be confident their top quality products stay that way, wherever in the world they're purchased. And our client's customers and the worldwide marketplace can be very confident about the brand.

Rely on LRQA for your supply chain assurance needs – we know having confidence in your supply chain matters.
