Types of In-Company training

All of LRQA's courses can be delivered as In-Company training. Or it maybe that you mix and match courses, or require a more facilitated bespoke approach to optimise business performance through your management systems. Whatever your training need is LRQA can support you in bridging that gap.

Mix and match for personalised training

Perhaps your assessor or audit team have pinpointed specific weaknesses in your management system. In which case, you may need to pick elements from different courses to bridge these particular skill gaps or help you to overcome challenges that you're facing now and smooth your way to your first certification or renewal.

Tutored Audits

This is live audit practice using your own processes and paperwork to practice what you've learnt and cement it in your mind. Your team plan and conduct their own live audit under the guidance of one of our expert trainers who will be with you, giving you support and feedback at every stage, helping to make your audit more effective.

New Auditors learn how to confidently apply new skills in their own working environment. It's the perfect follow-on course after finishing auditor training to translate theory seamlessly into practice.

Seasoned Auditors refresh their skills and get a new perspective, moving audits on from simple compliance to tools that underpin business performance. Banish bad habits as you make your auditing more focused and efficient!

Benefits of a Tutored Audit

- Train by completing a scheduled audit - learning and keeping your audit plans on track.
- Practical training using the actual systems you use and the challenges you face each day.
- Expert guidance from trainers – who are experienced auditors and practicing assessors for LRQA.
- There's no need to take time offsite helping to keep your audit programme on schedule, saving time and money.
- Use tutored audits to identify opportunities to improve business effectiveness.

Tailor-made training

You can also set your own learning agenda. We are not a consultancy, so we won't tell you how to do things. Instead, based on our knowledge of your industry sector, we'll work with you, asking questions, helping you to consider alternatives and make you think carefully about your approach.

We will challenge your management system and review how well it is meeting the needs and expectations of stakeholders now and in the future. Action planning is built into the process, so you know the outcome of the training will be practical and relevant, ready for you to implement directly and smoothly into your organisation.

Our Training Team

LRQA's unique 'Business Assurance' approach enables our clients to maintain and improve their management system and business performance both now and in the future.

They will go out of their way to make your training interesting, relevant and practical. Between them our trainers boast over 100 years experience of working with management systems, giving them a solid appreciation of the challenges you and your organisation face.

If your organisation is planning training for three or more individuals, then please talk to us about In-Company Training. This option would be the more cost and time effective option.
